I AM VERY PLEASED TO WELCOME YOU TO THE NEW BLOOMSBURY PROFESSIONAL LAW CATALOGUE.

New editions publishing in the next 12 months include Chalmers' Marine Insurance 1906 (11th Ed), Commercial Contracts: A Practical Guide to Standard Terms (5th Ed), Lewis and Buchan: Clinical Negligence: A Practical Guide (8th Ed), Parker's Wills Precedents (10th Ed) and Solicitors' Liability (4th Ed). We are also delighted to be publishing the new 3rd edition of Ashton & Reid on Clubs and Associations for the first time.

We are excited to be publishing in the fast growing area of cyber and digital law with new titles including Blockchain and Cryptocurrency: International Legal and Regulatory Challenges, Commercial and Cyber Fraud: A Legal Guide to Justice for Businesses, A Practitioner's Guide to Commercial and Cyber Fraud: Claiming Compensation in the Civil and Criminal Courts and The Right to be Forgotten all publishing soon with more products to follow.

Other new titles to look out for include Property Damage, Property Professionals' Negligence and Liability, Terrorism Law and Practice Handbook, and The UK and EMEA Corporate Counsel Handbook.

Family Law continues to develop and we will be publishing new titles covering highly topical and developing areas, such as child migration, mediation and vulnerable witnesses over the coming months. Also look out for our 2nd Family Law Conference taking place on 25 June 2019 at The Law Society. For more information please visit www.bloomsburyprofessionallaw.com/events/ or email bpevents@bloomsbury.com.

If you are interested in having access to our content online then please visit www.bloomsburyprofessionallaw.com/online/ to see the practice areas that are available and to request a free trial or call 01444 416119.

I hope that you are as excited about what we have planned as we are. I am always very interested to hear what you think about Bloomsbury Professional law titles and would be delighted to hear from you should you have any comments or be interested in becoming a Bloomsbury Professional author. Please feel free to contact me.

Dear colleague

This year we have created separate catalogues for each of our four main businesses:
Law; Tax and Accounting; Ireland and Scotland.

Within each you will find plenty of well-established and industry-leading titles as well as many new and exciting publications that we are delighted to bring to the market.

Unlike some of our competitors, our titles are written by practitioners: people dealing with clients every day and applying the latest regulation to resolve real issues.

In today's uncertain climate it is important that the advice you give to your own clients is clear and practical: our titles help you to achieve that goal.

2019 sees us continue to develop our online services across the portfolio and if you have not already taken a look or trialled our online services I would urge you to do so. All four businesses have their own bespoke online services which can be scaled up from one to 1,000+ users.

Our publishing programme is constantly evolving and what you see within these pages is a snapshot of what is available in Spring 2019. To ensure you receive the very latest information on our titles and their availability you can sign up to a number of social media services via our website at www.bloomsburyprofessional.com/uk/.

I hope you enjoy perusing the catalogue.

WELCOME TO THE BLOOMSBURY PROFESSIONAL ONLINE SECTION OF THE 2019 CATALOGUE

Someone asked me the other day what I thought the most important trend in publishing had been over the last few years. So far as online is concerned, it was an easy question to answer. Undoubtedly the most notable trend over the last few years has been that more and more users are searching for and reading professional information on their smartphones.

Let me say from the outset that, as someone who was born in the middle of the last century, I still tend to think of the telephone, mobile or otherwise, as a device for making and receiving phone calls. In that, as in so many other respects, I am completely wrong, of course. A modern smartphone is as powerful as a desktop computer and, in this age of ultra high res screens, may even provide a better reading experience, even for these tired old eyes. I can still hear myself pontificating to some poor unfortunate a few years ago that I would never read a book on a mobile phone, the very idea was ridiculous. But here we are a few years later, and now my phone is my primary platform for reading, news, YouTube, LinkedIn and so on.

So, for readers who have yet to try Bloomsbury Professional's online services on their mobile, I commend it to your attention. The mobile site is at the same location as the desktop version (www.bloomsburyprofessionalonline.com) and your current username and password will work there too. Obviously, on a palm-sized device we have to change the user interface a bit so you may find it somewhat unfamiliar at first, but the search box is still there at the top right of the screen and you should find the search speed whether on wi-fi or a decent mobile signal just as fast as the desktop site.

I suppose a perfectly valid question would be why would anyone want to read professional information on their phone? Many of us spend the greater part of the day at desks looking at computer screens which deliver some kind of information, verbal or numeric, to our aching eyes and minds. Why continue to read that stuff when you're on the train, or in the bath, or out and about at any of those places where you might use your phone? I will duck answering the question directly but refer instead to a testimonial video that Colin Corrigan of Corrigan & Co made for our users in ICAEW regulated firms. Colin makes the point in the film that since the Bloomsbury Professional service had been made available to his firm, there had been a general rise in interest and learning across his users as they became more adept at finding answers for themselves. That was an extremely gratifying thing to hear. Some might say that one of the signs of a good reference work is the extent to which it catches your eye with something interesting unrelated to your original query. Whether it's the copyright status of a certain kind of popular plastic shoe or whether or not it is possible to reclaim input tax on a wig (clue: search for "wild man") those idle moments, waiting for a bus, or a friend, or just a break in the weather, may be enjoyably and divertingly spent on your mobile, reading the expert guidance on a myriad of technical subjects from Bloomsbury Professional's unrivalled team of authors.

The Banker's Remedy of Set-Off

NEW EDITION

Fourth Edition

Sheelagh McCracken

'McCracken's book provides a comprehensive analysis of the English law of set-off, its practical operation in the banker-customer relationship as well as the theoretical underpinnings' Journal of International Banking Law and Regulation (review of third edition).

Examines the remedy from both a legal and practical perspective. Divided into five parts it discusses the relevance, concept, nature, scope and application of set-off, tracing the development of the concept from its varying origins in statute, equity and contract.

With updated case law and legislation, the fourth edition includes coverage of: the developments in priority issues, both pre- and post-insolvency; practical scenarios illustrating the mechanics of set-off. New topics include: the role and impact of set-off and netting in the financial markets, extending the examination beyond the current focus on specific transactions between banker and customer/client; and the operation of set-off and netting under personal property securities style legislation recently implemented in Australia, drawing on comparative material in Canada and New Zealand as well as on the work of various international agencies.

Dr Sheelagh McCracken is Professor of Finance Law at the University of Sydney.

Consumer Credit Law and Practice – A Guide

Fifth Edition

Dennis Rosenthal

Contributor: Graham Haxton-Bernard

'In all this welter of regulation, there is a great need for a work which reduces the mass of case law and regulation covered in encyclopaedic works into a clear, concise and readable form which steers a way through the labyrinth. This is just such a book...It is to be warmly welcomed.' From the Foreword by Roy Goode.

The most useful and comprehensive single volume of work on the subject of consumer credit.

The fifth edition is an easily accessible guide covering all aspects of consumer credit, consumer hire and ancillary credit businesses. Taking account of all relevant case law, legislative changes and developments it provides expert guidance in order to navigate the complex web of legislation, regulation, rules and guidance covering this area of the law.

Dennis Rosenthal is a barrister at Henderson Chambers and Graham Haxton-Bernard is Head of Legal, Compliance and Regulatory Affairs at the Consumer Credit Trade Association.

International Guide to Money Laundering Law and Practice NEW EDITION

Fifth Edition

Arun Srivastava, Mark Simpson and Richard Powell

'...an extremely useful one stop shop for international money laundering law...should have a place in every practitioner's library'
New Law Journal (review of fourth edition).

A unique publication providing a detailed insight into the background of money laundering operations, clearly explaining the anti-money laundering laws and regulations in over 30 key global financial centres throughout the world.

In addition, there are five chapters considering money laundering law and practice in the UK with the emphasis on the legal and regulatory framework including chapters covering typological considerations; accounting and auditing issues; and confiscating the proceeds of crime. Also included is a chapter looking at international responses and initiatives to money laundering.

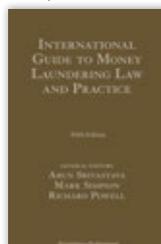

The fifth edition also covers the implementation of the Fourth Anti-money Laundering Directive (4AMLD) as well as coverage of the phased implementation of 5AMLD, the Criminal Finances Act 2017 and a new chapter on Cyprus.

Arun Srivastava is a partner in the Corporate Department in the London office of Paul Hastings. Mark Simpson is a partner in Baker McKenzie's Financial Services Group. Richard Powell is a Professional Support Lawyer at Baker McKenzie.

The Law Relating to International Banking NEW EDITION

Second Edition

Andrew Haynes

'It will be of considerable use to practitioners, academics, bankers and students alike...This is a highly competent piece of work for a book of its scope, depth and length.' Bankers Lawyer (review of previous edition).

Addresses the key legal issues associated with international banking and capital markets.

Covering choice of law, jurisdiction, sovereign risk, contractual remedies, exchange controls and legal opinions, this new edition provides a detailed analysis of the legal issues relating to the lending of money, whether by way of term loans, syndicated lending, the transferring of a bank's interest in a loan, bond issues, asset backed securitisation. In addition, the title considers Islamic securitisation as well as the whole of business securitisation and also examines derivative contracts and other contractual issues arising.

Professor Andrew Haynes is a leading authority on the law relating to banking and financial services regulation. He is Professor of Law at the University of Wolverhampton, Honorary Professor of Law, University of Tyumen, Russia and former visiting Professor of Law, University of Macau, People's Republic of China.

Lewis and Buchan: Clinical Negligence: A Practical Guide NEW EDITION

Eighth Edition

Andrew Buchan

'If you're in any way involved in clinical negligence cases, this book, which covers almost every aspect of this litigation, should be in your professional library' Phillip Taylor MBE (review of the previous edition).

Provides comprehensive guidance with full analysis of the relevant governing principles plus issues of funding and costs, complaints procedures and procedures in the Court of Protection, as well as the interplay with human rights and the role of expert witnesses.

Since the seventh edition there have been well over 250 reported cases concerning clinical negligence. The new eighth edition considers the impact these cases have on practice and procedure. In addition there is a new chapter on product liability.

CLUB LAW

Ashton & Reid on Clubs and Associations NEW EDITION

Third Edition

David Ashton, Paul W Reid and Ian Snaith

"...the authors provide an excellent treatment of the ways in which a club may participate in societal interactions, including a club's civil liability. Mention should also be made of the useful appendices, containing statutes and precedents...I recommend this book to any solicitor dealing with clubs or unincorporated associations, including charities." Solicitors Journal (review of a previous edition).

The definitive guide to the legal framework within which clubs, societies and associations operate, bringing together the various strands of law to provide practical legal advice for these bodies, their advisers and officers.

The third edition is fully updated to cover important new case law as well as the plethora of legislation affecting employment law, landlord and tenant law, licensing law and tax. The work includes a full set of model rules as well as other useful material in the appendices.

David Ashton is former deputy Master of the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice and was for many years Counsel to the Kennel Club. Paul W Reid is a Recorder of the Crown Court and was for many years Standing Counsel to the National Golf Club's Advisory Association. Ian Snaith is a consultant solicitor, a former Senior Lecturer at the University of Leicester, and the author of the leading textbook on co-operative and community benefit societies.

Dalhuisen on Transnational Comparative, Commercial, Financial and Trade Law – Volume 1

HART TITLE

Seventh Edition

Jan H Dalhuisen

This is the seventh edition of the leading work on transnational and comparative commercial, financial, and trade law, covering a wide range of complex topics in the modern law of international commerce and finance. As a guide for students and practitioners it has proven to be unrivalled. The work is divided into three volumes, each of which can be used independently or as part of the complete work.

Volume 1, in the first chapter, covers the roots and foundations of private law; the different origins, structure, and orientation of civil and common law; the forces behind the emergence of a new transnational commercial and financial legal order, its meaning, concepts, and operation; the theoretical basis of the transnationalisation of the law in the professional sphere in that order; its methodology and the autonomous sources of the new law merchant or modern lex mercatoria, its international finance-driven impulses, and its relationship to domestic and transnational public policy and public order requirements. The second chapter covers the transnationalisation of dispute resolution in that order, especially international arbitration, and contains a critical analysis of the main challenges to its success, continuing credibility, and effectiveness.

All three volumes may be purchased separately or as part of a single set.

Jan H Dalhuisen is Professor of Law at King's College London and Chair in Transnational Financial Law at the Catholic University in Lisbon. He is Visiting Professor at the University of California at Berkeley and former Visiting Professor at the Tsinghua University in Beijing, the University of Hong Kong, the University of Singapore (NUS), Tel Aviv University, the University of New South Wales in Sydney, Australia, and the University of Utrecht in The Netherlands.

As a guide for students and practitioners it has proven to be unrivalled. The work is divided into three volumes, each of which can be used independently or as part of the complete work.

Volume 2 deals with the transnationalisation of contract; movable and intangible property law; and the transformation of the models of contract and movable property in commercial and financial transactions between professionals in the international flow of goods, services, money, information, and technology. In this transnational legal order, the emphasis in the new law merchant or modern lex mercatoria of contract and movable property turns to risk management, asset liquidity, and transactional and payment finality. Common law and civil law concepts are compared and future directions indicated. The potential, effects, and challenges of the blockchain are noted, so far especially for the carriage of goods by sea.

HART TITLE

Seventh Edition

Jan H Dalhuisen

This is the seventh edition of the leading work on transnational and comparative commercial, financial, and trade law, covering a wide range of complex topics in the modern law of international commerce and finance. As a guide for students and practitioners it has proven to be unrivalled. The work is divided into three volumes, each of which can be used independently or as part of the complete work.

Volume 3 deals with financial products and financial services; the structure and operation of banking and of the capital markets; the role of modern commercial and investment banks; and financial risk, stability and regulation, including the fallout from the 2008 financial crisis and the subsequent regulatory responses in the US and Europe. In sections on products and services, the blockchain and its potential are noted in the payment system, in the custodial holdings of investment securities, and in the derivative markets. A section on regulation critically reviews the need for macro-prudential supervision and an independent macro-prudential supervisor, the role of resolution authorities, the operation of the shadow banking system, and the extraterritorial reach and international recognition of financial regulation.

A Guide to Conducting Internal Investigations NEW TITLE

Jake McQuitty

Explains what a good regulatory investigation looks like whilst guiding investigators through the myriad of issues that can arise. It also dismantles many of the preconceptions and myths which have grown up around investigations in the post-financial crisis environment.

Providing expert guidance on every step of a regulatory investigation including who should carry out the investigation, the scoping and planning, the interviewing and witness handling, how best to cooperate with the authorities, employee conduct and performance investigations, investigating senior staff, press, PR and Corporate Comms and litigation risks the book redresses the balance and provides a much needed blueprint for firms who find themselves in this position.

Jake McQuitty is a partner in Eversheds Sutherland Financial Services Disputes & Investigations group specialising in corporate investigations and regulatory enforcement.

The Decline of Private Law

NEW TITLE HART TITLE

Gonçalo de Almeida Ribeiro

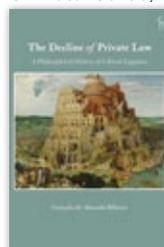

This book is a large-scale historical reconstruction of liberal legalism, from its inception in the mid-nineteenth century, the moment in which the jurists forged the alliance between political liberalism and legal expertise embodied in classical private law doctrine, to the contemporary anxiety about the possibility of both a liberal solution to the problem of political justification and of law as a respectable form of expert knowledge. Each stage in the history is a moment of synthesis between a substantive and a methodological idea. The former is the liberal political theory of the period, purporting to provide a solution to the problem of political justification. The latter is a conception of legal method or science, supposedly vindicating the access of the expert to the political choices embodied in the law. Thus, each moment in the history of liberal legalism integrates a political theory with a jurisprudential conception. Although it reaches the unsettling conclusion that liberal legalism has largely failed by its own standards, the book urges us to avoid quietism, skepticism or cynicism, in the hope that a deeper understanding of the fragility of our values and institutions inspires a more thoughtful, broadminded and nurtured citizenship.

Gonçalo de Almeida Ribeiro is Professor of Law at Universidade Católica Portuguesa and Judge of the Constitutional Court of Portugal.

Fraud and Breach of Warranty: Buyers' Claims and Sellers' Defences

NEW TITLE

Simon Salzedo QC and Geoffrey Kuhne

Dealing with issues that arise for both buyers and sellers, this new title provides expert guidance on how to deal with claims of fraud and breach of warranty following the sale or purchase of a company.

Key questions considered include:

1. When can a warranty also be a representation?
2. When is a warranty claim properly notified and served?
3. When has fair disclosure been given?
4. What are the requirements for proving fraud in the context of sale of a business?
5. When is an accounting fraud attributed to the seller?
6. What are the remedies for fraud and breach of warranty and how are damages calculated?
7. When can the seller claim for loss of earnout under purchaser's warranties?

Simon Salzedo QC and Geoffrey Kuhne are both barristers at Brick Court Chambers.

Legislation and Reform in the Law of Obligations

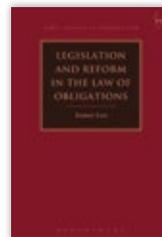

NEW TITLE HART TITLE

James Lee

This book presents a study of the ways in which legislation shapes and develops the law of obligations in the law. The book addresses particular questions such as the scope of purportedly exclusive legislative schemes, incremental policy-based changes, the question of when a change in the law of obligations ought to be left to the legislature and the role of law reform bodies. Recent jurisprudence of the leading courts on these issues are scrutinised.

Developing a coherence-based approach, the book argues that the processes of legislation ought to involve more faithful engagement with the applicable principles than is often the case. A key theme that respect for coherence is not merely a matter of doctrinal purity, but also translates into more effective legislation. This thesis is given especial currency by the challenges of Brexit for English private law.

James Lee is Reader in English Law in The Dickson Poon School of Law, King's College London and an Associate Academic Fellow of the Honourable Society of the Inner Temple.

Justice and Efficiency in Mega-Litigation

NEW TITLE HART TITLE

Anna Olijnyk

Justice and Efficiency in Mega-Litigation explores the way in which Australian judges reconcile the objectives of justice and efficiency - for the parties to the case and for the community - in mega-litigation. This issue is situated within broader theoretical debates about the role of courts and the purpose of civil procedure. It is also considered as part of the practical and legal developments in civil procedure over the last century; most significantly, the rise of case management as a means of improving efficiency and increasing access to justice. Many examples of mega-litigation are used to illustrate the nature of this species of litigation, the challenges it presents, and the ways in which those challenges have been resolved.

Anna Olijnyk is Lecturer at Adelaide Law School, Australia.

Scholars of Tort Law

NEW TITLE HART TITLE

James Goudkamp and Donal Nolan

The publication of Scholars of Tort Law marks the beginning of a long overdue rebalancing of private law scholarship. Instead of concentrating on judicial decisions and academic commentary only for what that commentary says about judicial decisions, the book explores the contributions of scholars of tort law in their own right. The work of a selection of leading scholars of tort law from across the common law world, ranging from Thomas Cooley (1824–1898) to Patrick Atiyah (1931–2018), is addressed by eminent current scholars in the field. The focus of the contributions is on the nature of the work produced by each of the scholars in question, important influences on their work, and the influence which that work in turn had on thinking about tort law. The process of subjecting tort law scholarship to sustained analysis provides new insights into the intellectual development of tort law and reveals the important role played by scholars in that development. And by focusing on the work of influential tort scholars, the book serves to emphasise the importance of legal scholarship to the development of the common law more generally.

James Goudkamp is Professor of the Law of Obligations at the University of Oxford, and a Fellow of Keble College, Oxford. He is also a practising barrister at 7 King's Bench Walk Chambers, London. Donal Nolan is Professor of Private Law at the University of Oxford, and a Fellow of Worcester College, Oxford.

Confiscation Law Handbook

NEW EDITION

Second Edition

Adrian Eissa QC

'This is an invaluable legal resource and one that should be treated with respect for the knowledge it imparts to the reader.' Insidetime (review of previous edition).

This book is useful for those giving advice at trial stage on the future impact of confiscation proceedings. A clear analysis of the proliferating case law in the field allows principles to be identified and a stage by stage explanation of the procedural requirements ensures that required forms and responses are completed well and within time limits.

Covers significant developments since the first edition including case law at Supreme Court level impacting on the calculation of benefit and the need to achieve proportionality and compliance with the Human Rights Act as well as case law on apportionment and double recovery. This edition also covers the Criminal Finance Act 2017 and its impact on POCA.

DISCRIMINATION LAW

Discrimination Law

General Editors: Pauline Hughes and Andrew Burns QC

Following the structure of the Equality Act 2010, Discrimination Law covers every aspect of discrimination, giving practical and detailed advice on the full range of legal equality issues. It considers discrimination in the arenas of employment law, goods and services, housing, education, and transport services across the fields of sex, race, disability, religious and sexual orientation discrimination, equal pay, and EU equality law. It also contains commentary on practice and procedure including its own guideline to the amount of awards in discrimination claims.

In addition it includes specific sections on each of the protected characteristics in the EA 2010 while discrimination concepts which are common are addressed in the opening chapters. Common concepts are considered in detail at the outset, with special sections on matters specific to some aspects of discrimination. For each protected characteristic the legacy case law is now summarised in one place with extensive cross-referencing in brief but helpful footnotes. Four updates per year charged for on publication.

Pauline Hughes is a salaried Judge of the Employment Tribunals. Andrew Burns QC of Devereux chambers specialises in employment and commercial law and sits as a Recorder. With a team of specialist contributors.

Employment Covenants and Confidential Information: Law, Practice and Technique

NEW EDITION

Fourth Edition

Selwyn Bloch QC and Kate Brearley

Sets out the law, practice and appropriate strategy from both the employer's and employee's point of view. It focuses on how to prevent competitive activity by an employee or former employee and what to do when it happens. Clear guidance is given on drafting to minimise the risk of competitive activity, what activities an employee or ex-employee may and may not undertake and the remedies available where competitive activity occurs.

This edition includes coverage of:

Case law relevant to the drafting and interpretation of employment covenants; Current trends regarding enforcement of employment covenants and duties of confidentiality; Developments in the law on fiduciary duties and the interrelationship with duties of fidelity; Fresh perspectives on garden leave, springboard injunctions and team moves; Remedies available against the (ex-)employee and third party competitors; Disputes with a foreign law element: conflict of laws, exclusive jurisdiction clauses, choice of law and anti-suit injunctions.

Eversheds Sutherland: The Employment Practitioner's Guide to Financial Institutions: Key Aspects of the Regulatory Framework NEW TITLE

Paul Fontes, Elizabeth Graves and Susan Mayne

Provides expert guidance on the complexity of the regulations affecting all aspects of the employment life cycle, from recruitment to departure within the financial services and insurance sectors.

Covers the full roll-out of the Senior Managers and Certification Regime to nearly all financial services firms in December 2019 (December 2018 for insurers). The complexity of the rules and the difficulty for practitioners in finding resources to help them understand the reach and detail of the new regime has led to much confusion and uncertainty. It has a practical layout and style, setting out problems that arise in practice and how to tackle them, and links to source materials along with Appendices setting out relevant sections from the FCA Handbook and other source material. The book explains the regime with practical analysis of the issues raised and how the changes should be implemented.

Enforcing International Maritime Legislations on Air Pollution Through UNCLOS NEW TITLE HART TITLE

Jesper Jarl Fanø

This book explores the scope and applicability of The United Nations Conventions on Law of the Sea ('UNCLOS'), chapter XII, relating to the enforcement of international environmental maritime legislation. In so doing, it clarifies the increased enforcement and information obligations placed on flag States and the broadened jurisdictional basis for port and coastal States. Its examination extends the enforcement provisions in The International Convention for the Prevention of Pollution from Ships ('Marpol'), Annex VI, including by port States on the high seas. The book also applies the same principles of enforcement through chapter XII of UNCLOS on both existing and future environmental regulation. Finally, given increased environmental challenges, the book offers an analysis of whether certain international environmental legislation in the future could be considered peremptory norms protected by the jus cogens principle to counter global warming, climate change and overall air pollution.

Jesper Jarl Fanø is an expert on environmental enforcement working at the Danish Environmental Protection Agency, then at the Danish Maritime Authority and teaching international law at Copenhagen University. He currently works at A.P. Møller Mærsk.

European Court Procedure

NEW TITLE HART TITLE

Viktor Luszcz

The new Rules of Procedure of the General Court, which entered into force on 1 July 2015, are the last brick in the post-Lisbon legal structure governing litigation before the EU Courts. This work, based on the completely reformed package of procedural rules, and written by EU Court and Commission insiders, gives a detailed and practice-oriented overview of the whole spectrum of procedure before the EU judiciary. It also presents the system of judicial avenues which enable litigants to enforce their rights under EU law against European institutions, Member States or private parties. The book is a comprehensive reference tool for practising lawyers and helps them present their cases effectively, while at the same time offering valuable guidance to national judges dealing with cases raising points of EU law. Moreover, it provides insights into the reasoning process of the EU Courts, which will be of interest to scholars in the field, and is built around a structure that facilitates its use as a teaching material.

Viktor Luszcz, has spent 11 years as a R f rendaire at the General Court, and is a Member of the Budapest Bar.

Liability Insurance in International Arbitration

NEW TITLE HART TITLE

Third Edition

Richard Jacobs QC, Lorelie S Masters and Paul Stanley QC

This is the third revised edition of what has become and was described by the English Court of Appeal in C v D as the "standard work" on Bermuda Form excess insurance policies. The Form, first used in the 1980s, covers liabilities for catastrophes such as serious explosions or mass tort litigation and is now widely used by insurance companies. It is unusual in that it includes a clause requiring disputes to be arbitrated under English procedural rules in London but subject to New York substantive law. This calls for a rare mix of knowledge and experience on the part of the lawyers involved, each of whom is required to confront the many differences between English and US law and legal culture. In addition, since the awards of arbitrators are confidential and are not subject to the scrutiny of the courts, there is no body of precedent to which professionals can turn in order to understand its lengthy and complex provisions.

Richard Jacobs QC is a barrister at Essex Court Chambers in London. Lorelie S Masters is a Partner at Hunton & Williams LLP, in Washington, DC. Paul Stanley QC is a barrister at Essex Court Chambers.

Recognition and Enforcement of Judgments in Civil and Commercial Matters

NEW TITLE HART TITLE

Anselmo Reyes

This collection offers a study of the regimes for the recognition and enforcement of foreign commercial judgments in 15 Asian jurisdictions: Mainland China, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Singapore, Thailand, Vietnam, Cambodia, Myanmar, the Philippines, Indonesia, Sri Lanka and India. For lawyers, the book is intended as a practical guide to current law and procedures for enforcing judgments in the 15 jurisdictions. However, the book does not stop at describing current law and practice. Of interest to law academics and students, it analyses the common principles of the enforcement regimes in the 15 jurisdictions; and identifies what should be regarded as the norm for enforcement in Asian countries for the purpose of attracting foreign direct investment and catalysing rapid economic development.

Anselmo Reyes is Professor of Legal Practice at the University of Hong Kong and International Judge of the Singapore International Commercial Court.

A Practical Guide to Family Proceedings: Blomfield and Brooks NEW EDITION

Sixth Edition

Edited by District Judge Richard Robinson, District Judge Christopher Simmonds, Neil Hickman and Joanne Thambyrajah

'A brilliant 'how to do it' practical guide for the novice and experienced practitioner alike. Everyone should have a copy as a first port of call...' David Salter, Joint National Head of Family Law, Mills & Reeve LLP (review of a previous edition).

A straightforward, easy-to-follow handbook of procedure, this new edition offers a step-by-step guide to the effective conduct of all the most common types of family law applications.

Fully revised and restructured in line with the changes resulting from the creation of the Family Court, this edition includes: coverage of the updated procedure for Presumption of Death applications; and new chapters covering jurisdiction in children proceedings, public law for the private law practitioner, vulnerable witnesses and an introduction to appeals.

Widely referred to within the Family Court, Principal Registry of the Family Division, other district registries and county courts, it is an essential work for family law practitioners.

District Judge Richard Robinson, Principal Registry of the Family Division; District Judge Christopher Simmonds, District Judge of the Central Family Court; Neil Hickman, former District Judge; Joanne Thambyrajah, Secretary to Family Procedure Rule Committee.

Privilege, Privacy and Confidentiality in Family Proceedings NEW TITLE

David Burrows

To look at confidentiality, privilege and privacy from the point of view of the family law practitioner – judge, solicitor or barrister, doctor or social worker – the law must be seen as part of the mainstream of the common law. Is a child entitled to confidentiality; or is it correct, as Working Together guidance says, that the mature child's confidences should be 'shared'? When can privilege be overridden; and when does it not apply? Does without prejudice privilege cover a mediator; and when are closed materials procedures appropriate in children proceedings?

These and many more questions are covered in this book.

David Burrows, is a solicitor advocate who deals with all aspects of family breakdown.

Public Children Law: Contemporary Issues NEW TITLE

Alexander Laing and Bianca Jackson

A guide to important, current and commonly misunderstood issues in public children law focusing on areas that have posed particular difficulties for practitioners in recent years. It synthesises, in one place, the myriad sources of law in England and Wales; sets out, simply and clearly, the key cases and procedure in relation to 12 themes central to contemporary public children law; and assists with good practice, pointing out common pitfalls and how to avoid them.

Each chapter functions as a stand-alone guide and offers practical tips, flow charts, and guides to sound drafting of legal documents, including legal orders.

The book starts from pre-proceedings, analyses the commencement of care proceedings, takes in pressing and contemporary issues that are increasingly common to such cases, and examines the current changes.

Alexander Laing and Dr Bianca Jackson are barristers at Coram Chambers.

Julie Doughty, Lucy Reed and Paul Magrath

'compelling and fascinating...an absolutely essential read for a family practitioner... I was left...comforted that as things change apace in the Family Court I was properly informed with this book. I highly recommend it.' Rebekah Wilson, Garden Court Chambers.

Drawing together the law and key cases to provide practical guidance on publicity in family law cases and their reporting in the media.

Each chapter begins with a short series of key issues and ends with a summary of main points covered. References to research, government papers etc. are listed at the end each chapter. Passages of legislation and case notes appear in text boxes. Each chapter includes specific sections on the sorts of problems that may arise in practice – What and how to advise (child, parent, local authority etc) including how to seek informed consent.

Julie Doughty, PhD, is a Lecturer in Law at Cardiff University School of Law and Politics. Lucy Reed is a barrister practising from St John's Chambers. Paul Magrath is Head of Product Development and Online Content at the Incorporated Council of Law Reporting for England and Wales (ICLR).

Insolvency and Restructuring Manual NEW EDITION

Third Edition

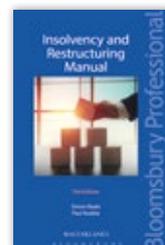

Simon Beale and Paul Keddle

'...a work that would benefit newcomers to the subject as well as established practitioners seeking a handy compendium of the key issues compiled by someone with clear experience and understanding of the demands of practice...' International Company and Commercial Law Review (review of a previous edition).

Guides you through the considerations and steps in each avenue, examining the main formal processes including liquidation, administration, receivership, company voluntary arrangements and schemes of arrangement.

The third edition includes: analysis and interpretation of the new Insolvency Rules 2016; the Recast EU Regulation on Insolvency 2015/848; the Small Business, Enterprise and Employment Act 2015; and the creation of the "pre-pack" pool in relation to pre-pack sales to connected parties. It also includes principles and processes to help you weigh the effects of insolvency in order to consider restructuring as an alternative; concerns specific to directors of insolvency companies; and cross-border considerations. Ease of reading is provided by bullet pointed and highlighted text, flowcharts and tables.

Simon Beale is the Head of the Insolvency practice at McFarlanes and Paul Keddle is a senior solicitor and insolvency practitioner at McFarlanes.

The Law Relating to Receivers, Managers and Administrators

NEW EDITION

Fifth Edition

Hubert Picarda, QC

Hailed as the most thorough work available in the area, it is an intensely practical work and is still cited in court. It has a strong international dimension, particularly with reference to judicial decisions in Australia and Asia, which often offer insight into the difficult issues in insolvency and have an influence on the outcome of UK decisions. The new edition also address the increasing globalisation of insolvency enforcement, includes coverage of potential legislation following the Review of the Corporate Insolvency Framework (ISD May 2016), and provides comment on the anticipated growth in insolvency work post-Brexit.

Hubert Picarda, QC is a well-known barrister in this area and a long standing author for Bloomsbury.

A Practitioner's Guide to European Patent Law

NEW TITLE HART TITLE

Paul England

Written by a team of lawyers with long-standing experience in patent litigation in Europe, this book is a comprehensive and practical guide to European patent law, highlighting the areas of consistency and difference between the most influential European patent law jurisdictions: the European Patent Office (EPO), England & Wales, France, Germany and the Netherlands.

Uniquely, the book: i) addresses European patent law by subject matter area, assessing the key national and EPO approaches together rather than in nation-by-nation chapters; and ii) provides an overview in each chapter of the common ground between the national approaches, and outlines a foundation for the UPC.

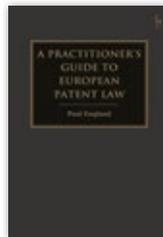

Paul England is a solicitor and head of the UPC taskforce at Taylor Wessing, London.

Fourth Edition

Mark Anderson and Victor Warner

Covers the different areas of law that affect technology agreements such as IP, contract law, competition law and tax, as well as the laws surrounding commercial transactions that involve the development, use of commercialisation of technology, and associate intellectual property rights. Types of transactions that fall within this category are research and development contracts and intellectual property licences and these form the main focus of the book.

Includes:

- Coverage of EU Horizon 2020 replacing Framework 7 funding scheme
- General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR)
- Updates in line with the Charities Act 2011
- Different types of standard agreements available
- Patent legislation: Unitary Patent and Unified Patents Court, the Intellectual Property Act 2014, Legislative Reform (Patents) Order 2014, Patents (Supplementary Protection Certificates) Regulations 2014
- The EU Trade Secrets Directive
- Regulations No 536/2014 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 16 April 2014 on clinical trials on medicinal products for human use, and repealing Directive 2001/20/EC
- Research exception (new section 22A) from freedom of information from 1 October 2014 (Freedom of Information Act 2014)
- Technology Transfer Regulation, 316/2014 and related guidelines

The precedents are available to download electronically via a separate website.

Mark Anderson is Managing Partner of Anderson Law LLP and Chambers UK Directory 2017 ranks him as a leading individual. Victor Warner is a solicitor at

Nicholas Caddick QC, Ben Longstaff and Jamie Muir Wood

Focuses on the current law relating to the protection of registered trademarks and certain related rights. This includes registered trade marks, well-known trade marks, certification marks, collective marks, protested geographical origin indicators, international conventions, and passing off.

There is clear explanation of the underlying principles and concepts with a breakdown of procedural matters, thereby helping to tie the different areas together.

Individual topics covered include:

- Kit-Kat – when can 3D shape marks benefit from 'acquired distinctiveness'?
- Whether colours may form part of 3D shape marks – Louboutin.
- Infringement by 'wrong way round' confusion.
- Limitations on the own-name defence.
- Calculation of damages, and the availability of blocking injunctions.

Nicholas Caddick QC, Ben Longstaff and Jamie Muir Wood are all members of Hogarth Chambers, a set with a strong reputation in the field of intellectual property law.

Disclosure of Information: Norwich Pharmacal and Related Principles

NEW EDITION

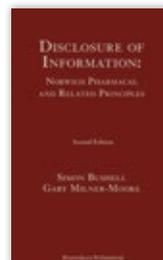

Second Edition

Simon Bushell and Gary Milner-Moore

'...a valuable resource for anyone seeking to obtain or resist a Norwich Pharmacal order.' The Law Society Gazette.

This book combines detailed legal commentary with sound practical guidance and:

- Considers Norwich Pharmacal orders in depth as well as examining the Bankers Trust jurisdiction and other species of relief such as third-party disclosure, pre-action disclosure and the use of subject access request.
- Addresses developments in the field of third party disclosure in proceedings issued against persons unknown.
- Provides practical examples illustrating how the jurisdiction is relevant in different scenarios that can be faced.
- Explores specific topics such as the use of Norwich Pharmacal against internet service providers and social media operators.
- Includes a chapter on the extra-territorial scope of the Norwich Pharmacal jurisdiction – of particular interest to litigators dealing with cross-border fraud issues.

Simon Bushell is a partner at Signature Litigation and Gary Milner-Moore is a partner with Herbert Smith Freehills.

Cornerstone on Mandatory, Additional and Selective Licensing NEW TITLE

Dean Underwood, Cornerstone Barristers

Provides an authoritative guide to the licensing of Houses in Multiple Occupation and other residential premises under Parts 2 and 3 of the Housing Act 2004. The book offers practical advice and guidance to local authorities and landlords on the licensing requirements as of 2017.

In addition to expert commentary it covers legislation, including the Housing Act 2004 and the amendments and case law, such as R(Hemming) v Westminster City Council [2015] (referred to EU Court following the decision of the Supreme Court in 2015), ensuring it provides an invaluable guide for everyone trying to understand the requirements of the Act brought about by the expansion of the mandatory HMO (Houses in Multiple Occupation) licensing scheme changes.

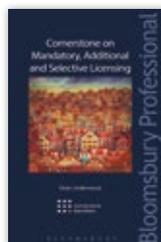

Dean Underwood, specialises in landlord and tenant, property, public and administrative law and has a particular expertise in housing and related administrative law. Cornerstone Barristers' housing team is at the forefront of housing legislation.

Debattista on Bills of Lading in Commodities Trade NEW EDITION

Fourth Edition

Charles Debattista with Francis Hornyold-Strickland

'concise, well-argued answers...extremely useful addition to the armoury of practitioner and academic alike...' Cambridge Law Journal (review of previous edition).

Split into three parts covering (i) documentary control over the goods, (ii) risk, title to sue and property and (iii) tender of an applicable bill of lading, the book provides a clear understanding of the complex connections between the contracts of sale, carriage and letter of credit.

Covers cases that have had a fundamental impact on international trade law such as The Saga Explorer (2013), Caresse Navigation Ltd v Zurich Assurances Maroc and Others (The Channel Ranger) (2014), and The Erin Schulte (2013). In addition there is new material on the relationship between the physical and documentary duties on sellers in CIF and FOB sales; the relationship between the opening of a letter of credit and the existence of a sale contract; who is a lawful holder of a bill of lading for the purposes of establishing a buyer's title to sue; time of shipment being of the essence; the court's task in construing poorly drafted international sale contracts; and the effect of certificate final clauses.

Professor Charles Debattista, formerly Professor of Commercial Law at the University of Southampton (until 2011), is a barrister at 36 Stone. Francis Hornyold-Strickland is a barrister at 36 Stone.

Maritime Labour Convention 2006 – UK and REG Implementation NEW TITLE

Charles Boyle

This new title sets out in detail how the UK and other REG members have implemented the Maritime Labour Convention (MLC). Specific references are given to the laws, merchant shipping notices and guidance, as well as identifying the areas where implementation is permitted by way of collective agreements.

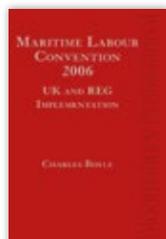

Key benefits:

Practical – refers to areas where problems have been experienced in implementation, and provides advice and tips on how to comply.

Easy to use – follows the subject headings of the MLC, which sets out logical groupings of connected subject matter.

International – specific provisions for Bermuda, the Cayman Islands, Gibraltar and the Isle of Man are set out, with detailed references to the appropriate regulatory sources.

Charles Boyle LL.B(Hons), LLM, Barrister, has been Director of Legal Services at Nautilus International since 2007.

Information Rights Volume 1

NEW EDITION HART TITLE

Fifth Edition

Philip Coppel QC

Retaining the position it has held since first publication, the fifth edition of this leading practitioner text on information law has been thoroughly re-worked to provide comprehensive coverage of the Data Protection Act 2018 and the GDPR. The treatment of data protection now extends beyond accessing personal information, to include all personal data rights and corresponding obligations.

The work continues to provide the most thorough analysis available of the Freedom of Information Act and the Environmental Information Regulations (and their Scottish equivalents). As with earlier editions, every tribunal and court decision has been reviewed and, where required, referenced. Common law rights, local government rights and subject-specific statutory information access regimes are all covered. In addition, there is in-depth treatment of ECHR and ECJ law as it applies to information rights, both as separate chapters and across the book's references.

Information Rights has been quoted by courts and tribunals, and is used by practitioners, judges and all those who practise in the field. The new edition maintains its style of succinct statements of principle, supported by case law, legislative provisions and statutory guidance. The work has been organised with an eye to easy navigation and browsing, with a practical paragraph headings throughout. The new edition has been divided into two volumes:

Volume 1: Commentary

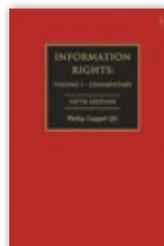

Volume 2: Statutory provisions and other materials

Philip Coppel QC has practised in the area of Information Rights for over 20 years and has appeared in many of its leading cases. In this work, he has been joined by a pre-eminent practitioner for each area of expertise, with over 12 QCs from eight leading chambers.

Conflict Negotiation in Mediation

NEW TITLE

Stephen Walker

What is conflict? How does it arise? How can we prevent it?

Resolving conflict can end up costing the parties involved a considerable amount of money not only in relation to solicitors' and barristers' fees, court fees, expert witness' fees, etc, but also in time spent working on the resolution. There is also no guarantee that these costs will be fully recovered in any settlement agreement.

It is therefore very important for parties in conflict to understand how to negotiate in order to reach the best outcome for all those involved and the main part of this is understanding the psychology of conflict negotiation.

Stephen Walker is an independent mediator ranked in the top 40 UK mediators by Chambers and Legal 500.

Mediating Clinical Claims NEW TITLE

Tony Allen

A timely insight into the growing practice of mediating clinical negligence claims in England. It is aimed at all those with an interest in understanding why and how mediation is such an effective process in resolving such claims – mediators, claimants, healthcare professionals and managers, their legal representatives, judges and policy-makers.

Written by one of the UK's most experienced mediators in this area, it explains: how mediation of clinical claims has developed; how mediation differs from other processes; provides practical guidance for all participants; the legal framework in which such mediation operates; the law and practice of clinical claims; process design and the special problems of multi-party claims; and future developments.

Numerous case studies are used putting clinical mediations into context.

Tony Allen is a solicitor and for 12 years a Director of CEDR. He remains a freelance mediator specialising now in clinical claims.

Mediation Law and Civil Practice

NEW EDITION

Second Edition

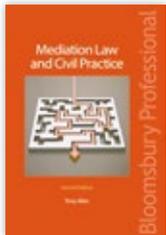

Tony Allen

'[Tony Allen's] considerable experience and expertise is brought to bear throughout this very welcome 2nd edition...He clearly and concisely considers all issues that anyone who is, or indeed who ought to be, concerned in any way with mediation needs to know in order to navigate the relationship between law and mediation' Lord Neuberger of Abbotsbury, Foreword to the 2nd Edition.

Examines the position of mediation within the civil justice system in England and Wales tracing the evolution of the relationship between the courts and the mediation.

This new edition discusses: the attitudes generated by the Jackson Review and Briggs LJ's reforms proposed in the Chancery Modernisation Review and his Civil Courts Structure Review; recent case law such as AB v CD and MWB Business Centres v Rock; protocols which, despite modification, remain inconsistent in their treatment of ADR; the impact of the EU Directive and the EU Consumer Directive; and the CJC Working Group report on ADR and Civil Justice.

The book also challenges the status quo by casting doubt on some decisions and generates alternative thinking around current legal and practice concepts.

Tony Allen is a solicitor and for 12 years a Director of CEDR. He remains a freelance mediator.

Law of Limitation

Editor in Chief: David di Mambro

There is scarcely any field of law or any remedy which is not subject to some form of limitation period in respect of either the bringing of a claim or the enforcement of a right. An appreciation of the nature of limitation rules and their application is, therefore, of everyday significance to most legal practitioners and essential to all practices. Limitation provisions are part of the substantive law of England and Wales and necessarily affect the rights of those seeking legal advice.

Law of Limitation combines an explanation of the law with practical guidance on the most common situations that practitioners face. Written from a practitioner's point of view, it contains specialist sections covering contract, land, personal injury and clinical negligence, tort, equity, administrative law, fraud, concealment, mistake and disability, procedure, miscellaneous limitation periods as well all relevant legislation, consultation papers and law commission reports. Two updates per year charged for on publication.

David Di Mambro is a barrister at Radcliffe Chambers with specialist contributors from Radcliffe Chambers, LAMB Chambers, 7 Bedford Row and Farrar's Building.

PUBLIC LAW

Beyond the Republican Revival NEW TITLE HART TITLE

Eric Ghosh

This provides the first book-length treatment of both the non-positive and the positive-liberty strands of the republican revival in political and constitutional theory. The republican revival has provided a prominent alternative to liberalism especially in the last few decades.

The book provides a sharply different interpretation of liberty as non-domination from that supported by the non-positive-liberty revivers and also a different interpretation of the conception of positive liberty favoured by the positive-liberty revivers. The new proposed interpretations, it is argued, are not only historically more faithful to the traditional writers identified with the republican tradition, but also have substantial normative advantages. Normative advantages are explained through applying these interpretations to issues relating to democracy and constitutionalism, including the democratic legitimacy of judicial review based on a bill of rights.

Eric Ghosh is a senior lecturer in law at the University of New England, NSW, Australia.

Founding Moments in Constitutionalism NEW TITLE

HART TITLE

Richard Albert, Menaka Guruswamy and Nishchal Basnyat

This edited collection brings together leading scholars to consider how much we know about the idea of a founding moment. Divided into three main parts, the first part on 'theory' explores founding moments as a concept. In approaching the phenomenon in a theoretical way, this part establishes some basic ideas that can lead to a general understanding of what exactly founding moments are.

The second part focuses on 'history', the chapters take a distinctly historical approach to the idea of a founding moment, whether by closely reconsidering a founding moment in a regime or by engaging in a historical archival research. The third part, on 'application', looks at the founding moments of specific states. Many of these are cases which differ from the conventional model of founding moments.

Richard Albert is William Stamps Farish Professor of Law at The University of Texas at Austin. Menaka Guruswamy is BR Ambedkar Research Scholar and Lecturer at Columbia Law School. Nishchal Basnyat is Charles Fiske III Harvard Scholar at Trinity College, Cambridge University.

Common Law Constitutional Rights NEW TITLE HART TITLE

Mark Elliott and Kirsty Hughes

This book is the first collection of its kind exploring common law constitutional rights. It offers a detailed and comparative analysis of the content and role of individual common law constitutional rights in judicial decision-making; and a series of essays offering a range of perspectives on the constitutional significance and rights implications of this development. There is a developing body of legal reasoning in the United Kingdom Supreme Court that has championed common law constitutional rights. Indeed various members of the senior judiciary have asserted the primary role of common law constitutional rights and critiqued legal arguments based first and foremost on the Human Rights Act 1998. This shift in legal reasoning has created a sense amongst both scholars and the judiciary that something significant is happening here, and was recently described by Lady Hale as 'UK constitutionalism on the march'. This collection brings together leading constitutional scholars to analyse this significant development for the first time.

Mark Elliott is Professor of Public Law and Kirsty Hughes is Lecturer in Law, both at the University of Cambridge.

Law and Religion in the Liberal State

NEW TITLE HART TITLE

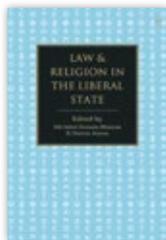

Jahid Hossain Bhuiyan and Darryn Jensen

The relationship between law and religion is evident throughout history. They have never been completely independent from each other. There is no doubt that religion has played an important role in providing the underlying values of modern laws, in setting the terms of the relationship between the individual and the state and in demanding a space for the variety of intermediate institutions which stand between individuals and the state. However, the relationships between law and religion and the state and religious institutions differ significantly from one modern state to another. There is not one liberalism but many. This work brings together reflections upon the relationship between religion and the law from the perspectives of different sub-traditions within the broader liberal project and in the light of some contemporary problems in the accommodation of religious and secular authority.

Jahid Hossain Bhuiyan is an Associate Professor, Department of Law, Northern University Bangladesh. Darryn Jensen is Senior Lecturer within the Law School at the Australian National University, Canberra, Australia.

Law Under a Democratic Constitution

NEW TITLE HART TITLE

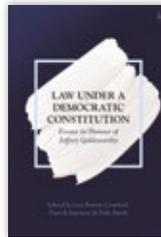

Lisa Burton Crawford, Patrick Emerton and Dale Smith

Jeffrey Goldsworthy is a renowned constitutional scholar and legal theorist whose work on the powers of Parliament and the interpretation of constitutional and statute laws has helped shape debates on these topics across the English-speaking world. The importance of democratic constitutionalism is central to Professor Goldsworthy's work: it lies at the heart of his defence of Parliamentary supremacy and shapes his approach to both constitutional and statutory interpretation. In honour of Professor Goldsworthy's retirement, this collection provides new perspectives from a range of leading public law scholars and theorists on the legal and philosophical principles that govern the making and interpretation of laws in a constitutional democracy, and addresses some of the challenges to democratic constitutionalism that have arisen in light of contemporary developments in Australia, Canada, New Zealand, the United Kingdom and the United States.

Lisa Burton Crawford is Senior Lecturer in Law at the University of New South Wales, Australia. Patrick Emerton is Associate Professor of Law at Monash University, Australia. Dale Smith is Senior Lecturer in Law at the University of Melbourne, Australia.

The New Labour Constitution

NEW TITLE HART TITLE

Michael Gordon and Adam Tucker

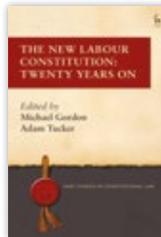

The twentieth anniversary of the election of the New Labour government in 1997 provides an ideal opportunity to assess the way in which this major programme of constitutional reform changed the nature of the UK constitution. This book brings together essays from leading academics in UK public law and politics which assess different aspects of the 'New Labour Constitution' twenty years on. In combination, these essays analyse the scale and significance of substantive changes, the process of constitutional reform established during this period, and the legacy of New Labour's constitutional project. Based on a conference held at the University of Liverpool in July 2017, funded by the British Academy and Leverhulme Trust, this book combines legal and political perspectives to explore a foundational period for the contemporary UK constitution.

Michael Gordon is Professor of Constitutional Law and Adam Tucker is Senior Lecturer in Law, both at the University of Liverpool.

New Media and Freedom of Expression

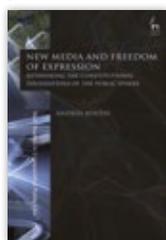

NEW TITLE

HART TITLE

András Koltay

How are the principles of freedom of expression, developed over the centuries, preserved and passed on? How can large internet intermediaries be required to respect freedom of expression and to contribute actively to a diverse and plural market of opinions? These are key issues for media regulation – and will be so in the following decades as far as it is foreseeable. The book starts with the definition and summary of freedom of expression and freedom of the press and then goes on to elaborate on the general questions of the internet as a specific medium. It then turns to analysing the legal issues arising in the course of operation of the three most important intermediaries (ISPs, search engines and social media) that affect freedom of expression. Finally it summarises the potential future regulatory and media policy directions. The book takes a comparative legal approach, focusing primarily on English and American regulations, case law and jurisprudential debates, but it also details the relevant international (Council of Europe, European Union) developments, as well as the jurisprudence of the European Court of Human Rights.

András Koltay is Adjunct Professor of Law at the Faculty of Law and Political Sciences, Pázmány Péter Catholic University, Budapest, Hungary.

Matt Qvortrup

Until recently, referendums were little used. After the Scottish independence and Brexit referendums, they have come to the fore as a mechanism with the potential to disrupt the status quo and radically change political direction. This book looks at the historical development of the referendum, its use in different jurisdictions, and the types of constitutional questions it seeks to address. Written in an engaging style, this offers a clear, objective overview of this important political and constitutional tool.

Matt Qvortrup is Professor of Political Science at Coventry University.

Stretching the Constitution

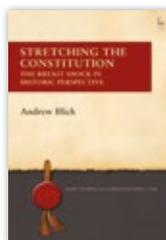

NEW TITLE

HART TITLE

Andrew Blick

How far did the European Union (EU) referendum result of 23 June 2016 really justify and necessitate the policies executed in response to it? What are the implications of that vote and its prolonged aftermath for the United Kingdom (UK) constitution? What other challenges does our political system face? This book seeks to answer these questions. It considers from a constitutional perspective the way in which the decision to leave the EU was taken and then implemented, discussing in particular the role of Parliament. It includes a close analysis of the referendum legislation, and relevant Commons debates. Adapting methods from applied history, the author considers the wider implications of Brexit by assessing a series of proposals for constitutional reform produced in the UK since 1900.

Andrew Blick is Senior Lecturer in Politics and Contemporary History and Director, Centre for British Politics and Government, King's College London.

Values in the Supreme Court

NEW TITLE

HART TITLE

Rachel J Cahill-O'Callaghan

This book draws on theories and techniques from psychology to understand the role of values in Supreme Court decision making. It centres on a novel method of content analysis of judgments to reveal the values that underpin decision making and discusses the potential implications this may have for developments in the law and the appointment of the judiciary. The book examines those cases which divide judicial opinion, Dworkin's hard cases "in which the result is not clearly dictated by statute or precedent". In hard cases there is real uncertainty about the legal rules that should be applied and factors beyond the traditional legal sources may influence the decision making. It is in these uncertain cases, where legal developments can rest on a single judicial decision, that values are revealed in the judgments.

Rachel Cahill-O'Callaghan is Senior Lecturer in Law at the University of Cardiff.

Parker's Will Precedents NEW EDITION

Tenth Edition

Leon Pickering

'...as handy a reference tool as ever. Any will-drafters unfamiliar with Parker's should be urged to give it a try.' Siân Thompson, Private Client Team, Swayne Johnson, Llandudno, Law Society Gazette (Review of 9th edition).

'...I rate this book highly. It is a refreshingly simple book, which one can just dip into with ease.' The STEP Journal (review of a previous edition).

Recommended by the Institute of Professional Willwriters, this is a well-established and highly regarded publication, renowned for its clarity of drafting.

Provides private client solicitors and professional will writers with a thorough understanding and working knowledge of the will drafting process and, as a result, the ability to draft better wills.

It contains a comprehensive collection of precedents for use by anyone who needs to draft wills. There are a variety of precedents for individual clauses as well as a set of complete wills catering for different scenarios. Notes and guidance on drafting and additional materials, including letters, support materials and extracts from relevant legislation are also included.

The tenth edition also includes:

- A chapter on Consumer Protection and related legislation with precedents
- Inclusion of expanded guidance on capacity
- Index-linked legacies
- Precedent retainers and letters of wishes
- An expanded chapter on funeral wishes

Leon Pickering is a barrister at Ten Old Square.

THE 2ND ANNUAL BLOOMSBURY PROFESSIONAL FAMILY LAW CONFERENCE

25 June 2019, The Law Society, London

Headline Address from The Right Honourable Sir James Munby, Former President of the Family Division.

Continuing to fill the gap left in the conference calendar that used to be occupied by Jordan Publishing's Family Law Conference, the 2nd Annual Bloomsbury Professional Family Law Conference continues to prove a worthy replacement.

Once again we have assembled a world-class panel of speakers, all recognised experts in their respective subjects; including The Right Honourable Sir James Munby who addresses our afternoon session.

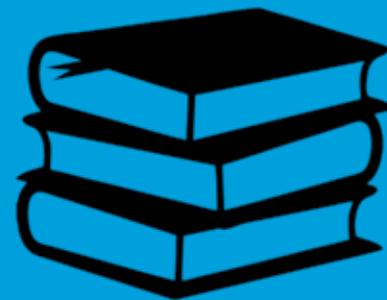

Divided into full day and half day ticket options, the conference is split between Children Law and Current Issues in Family Law. Same sex parenting, shared care, family farm divorces and working with foreign lawyers are just some of the major topics that will be presented on during the day.

Attend this conference and receive the latest thinking from the people driving development in these areas.
